Move could reduce care costs

U.S. firms directed to offer health plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is directing the nation's 400,000 largest employers to offer their workers the option of joining "health maintenance organizations," which are groups of physicians who provide basic medical services to a family for an annual fee.

The plan for health maintenance organizations (HMOs) is designed as an alternative to traditional health insurance programs. In many cases, medical costs under HMOs are cheaper than under insurance programs.

And since a family's HMO fee allows unlimited medical attention and no deductible expenses, the programs encourage preventive medicine.

Effective Thanksgiving Day, all firms which employ 25 or more persons and provide a health benefits plan will be required to offer an HMO alternative, if there is a qualified HMO in the area.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which issued the directive, said about 52 million workers and their families — 80 per cent of the U.S. work force — potentially would be eligible for HMO coverage.

As a concession to organized labor, HEW decided that a union's bargaining team could have the power to veto the HMO option, in which case it would not be offered to union members.

Dr. Robert van Hoek of HEW's Health Services Administration said it is conceivable that if a company's employees split between an HMO and a traditional Blue Cross-Blue Shield plan, for example, the favorable group premium offered by the Blues in the past would go up.

Congress passed the HMO Act in 1973 in the hope that mandatory "dual option" HMO coverage would stimulate development of more prepaid group practices and hold down the rise in health care costs, which have been going up 50 per cent faster than the over-all cost of living.

Van Hock said the requirement imposed on 400,000 employers represents "a significant leverage enabling consumers to make an informed choice in alternative forms of health care" and give them a greater voice in determining health expenditures.

General Motors Corp., which has offered HMO coverage for 22 years and now has more than 17,000 employees enrolled, has noted a substantial reduction in health care costs for workers in the Kaiser Permanente HMO in California but not in other parts of the country, according to Robert A. Lennox, assistant director for benefits.

Illinois Bell Co., part of the AT&T system, said its HMO enrollees are hospitalized only half as long as insurance plan members. The firm said inpatient hospital care accounts for 61 per cent of Illinois' Bell employee health costs, which have risen 21 per cent over the last year.

Kiwanis Club members ask that children bring their donations to Cherry Hill, Rose Avenue, Belle-Aire, and Eastside elementary schools Friday, Oct. 31. Collection boxes will be available at each building, and club members will pick up the candy that afternoon.

Kiwanians hope the Share-the-Treats program will add new meaning to the Beggars' Night celebration and help offset Halloween vandalism.

READY TO ROLL — This stately home rested comfortably at the intersection of Lewis Road and Bloomingburg-New Holland Road for more than 100 years until W. A. Gurtler and Sons Co. of Reynoldsburg lifted it from its foundation earlier this week. The home began a two-mile journey north along Lewis Road Thursday.

To new site on Lewis Road

Rural landmark relocated

Long before they reach their 100th birthday, many homes are worn out and torn down. However, one area residence estimated by neighbors to have passed the century mark still has enough vigor to be moving around.

Perhaps it more accurate to say the home still has enough going for it for someone to move it around.

Whatever the correct terminology, the home of the late Walter McCoy located at the intersection of Lewis Road and Bloomingburg-New Holland Road began a two-mile journey Thursday. It is traveling north on Lewis Road to a site owned by James Hagler Jr.

The landmark will have to make some adjustments to its new surroundings. Mr. McCoy owned 400 acres of land, Hagler and his wife Judy have only one acre of land, but it is adjacent to the James Hagler Sr., farm so, at least, the change won't be drastic. The Haglers are intrigued with the idea of putting a bit of themselves into the 100-year-old home, combining its long history with their own innovations.

They are looking forward to the spaciousness of the antique. After having been raised on his family's farm, Hagler has been living recently in a mobile home. He has missed the sprawling living room and upstairs bedrooms.

The Haglers decided they would much rather move the old McCoy home than build one of the smaller, more modern houses popular today. The two-story structure has nine rooms and four chimneys for inside fireplaces.

The new owner of the McCoy land is the Emerson Marting family who also own 613 adjacent acres. The parcel was purchased from the estate about a year ago. Bill Marting will be moving into a split-level home to be constructed on the site.

Most recently used by Ohio State University students for an agricultural work-study program, the former McCoy farm was once one of the top farms in the state. Mr. McCoy was well-known throughout Ohio for the outstanding hogs produced at the farm.

Daylight Time bill pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — An effort to retain the current eight-month Daylight Saving Time schedule for two more years is under way in the Senate, just days before regular time resumes on Sunday.

DST is to expire Sunday morning at 2 a.m. Unless Congress passes the bill introduced Thursday, it will resume on the traditional six-month schedule next April.

Daylight time was extended from six months to a full year in early 1974 in an effort to conserve energy, and last October Congress approved an eight-month experiment for 1975.

The Transportation Department has recommended that the eight-month plan be approved again. Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, D-Ill., introduced the bill to retain such a schedule for two more years.

Stevenson said approval of the bill, which would cause Daylight Saving Time to resume next February, would allow the department to continue to study the impact of the eight-hour schedule.

The full year of Daylight Time drew criticism from parents who complained "fast time" was forcing their children to leave for school during hours of darkness.

Immigrant wins $300,000

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Hungarian immigrant has realized the dream of many immigrants who come to America: he became rich.

Norbert Fischer, 49, of Bay Village, won the $300,000 top prize in the Ohio Lottery drawing Thursday.

"It's unbelievable. I've always had to work so hard for money, and now, here is all of this," he said after the drawing. Fischer, a member of the 1948 Hungarian Olympic ski team, fled his home country in 1951 and eventually settled in Cleveland. He now writes a ski column for two daily newspaper and runs a ski school.

He is the father of three and works for Sears as a salesman in addition to his ski school and column. In his spare time he writes songs. One of his compositions, "My Sentiment" has been recorded by the Glen Miller band.

"I'm very cautious, very conservative about money," he said. Fischer added he may fix his house and buy a snow vehicle to help him with his ski instructions.

Ohio Lottery spokesmen said the $300,000 winner was William B. Manning of Centerville. The three $15,000 winners were Norman Haberman of Parma; William McCoy of Marengo, and Charlotte Tolbert of Cincinnati.

In the new Buckeye 1,000 game, the winning three-digit number was 575; the four-digit number was 8178; the five-digit number was 18485 and the six-digit number was 759763. In the Lucky Buck game the threedigit number was 089 and the six-digit number was 418728.

'Share-the-treats' project set

Beggars' Night in Washington C.H. is a time when some children learn to share with those who are less fortunate.

The Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club is completing plans to help children learn responsibility and enjoy sharing with others by sharing their Halloween candy with others.

Termed "Share-the-Treats," the program is strictly local, according to Duane C. French, club president. The purpose of the program is to encourage children who participate in Beggars' Night to donate part of their gum and candy to deserving local groups.

Ora C. Burdge, chairman of the Share-the-Treats project committee said all children enjoy sweets. By donating some of their Halloween treats to others, the youngsters learn a lesson in social responsibility while bringing enjoyment to those who are unable to participate.

The candy collected will be shared with nursing homes, children in Fayette Memorial Hospital, the Fayette County Children's Home, needy families and the mentally retarded at

Laser detector successful in identifying cancer cells

BOSTON (AP) — Scientists say a new laser light system for identifying cancer cells is faster and possibly more accurate than the familiar Pap smear test.

The new system, which distinguishes between the light patterns of normal and abnormal cells when the laser beam shines through them, may prove even more useful in rapidly identifying types of white blood cells, the researchers said Thursday.

Different kinds of white cells fight certain kinds of infections. A quick cell test can help doctors make hour-by-hour checks on how a person is doing warding off an infection, they said.

Scientists from the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory in New Mexico described their system in a paper delivered here at the annual meeting of the Optical Society of America.

Dr. Gary Salzman of the laboratory's biophysics and instrument group said the system has been used successfully in detecting cervical and vaginal cancer in laboratory testing.

Since all kinds of cells scatter light differently to form distinct patterns or "signatures," a catalogue of light patterns can be stored in a computer for instant comparison and identification of new samples, he said.

The new system works by passing cells in a salt solution through a plastic tube at a rate of 60,000 cells per minute. As each cell progresses individually through the flow chamber, it is struck by a low-power laser beam and the light is scattered.

A detector system converts the scatter pattern to electrical signals which are stored in a computer memory for comparison with similar cell types.

Knievel owes fine

MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio (AP) — Morrow County Court wants another $15 from daredevil Evel Knievel because he didn't mail a traffic bond in on time.

A bench warrant and $59 fine was handed Knievel Wednesday but the showman's business manager said Thursday a check for the fine was on the way and the matter had been straightened out.

Knievel was cited by the State Highway Patrol for doing 72 miles an hour in his customized Cadillac pickup truck Oct. 14 on Interstate 71. He was ticketed but didn't have to post what would have been a $20 bond.

When neither the bond nor Knievel showed in court, the bench warrant was issued.

Patrolman Arthur Reitz said Robert C. Knievel, 37, of Butte, Mont., (Knievel's given name), was a "perfect gentleman" during the citation. He said he first realized who he was stopping when he saw the Montana license plate "EVEL."

He said Knievel, who is scheduled to jump 14 buses at Kings Island near Cincinnati Saturday, admitted he was speeding while on his way to a news conference in Cleveland. He said he wished him luck on his jump.

South campus becoming a reality

Completion scheduled next fall on new Southern State facility

The structural steel is in place and the roofing is secured. Except for the area that is to be the chemistry and biology lab, all the concrete is poured and set. Where only a few months ago a huge excavation marked the site of a building foundation, a college campus is now becoming a reality.

September of 1976 is the scheduled completion date for the new south campus facility of Southern State College. Located on U.S. 62-S in Fin-castle, the new building has been planned to serve up to 1,000 day and evening students. Classes are presently held only in the evening at Eastern High School in Macon.

The new 34,000 square foot building will house classrooms, technology laboratories, a library, a student lounge and multi-purpose area, and the campus administrative and faculty offices.

On a recent tour of the building site, Richard M. Pulliam, Southern State's south campus dean, explained some of the features of the new campus. The building, he said, is designed so that one portion can be used while the rest is closed off to save energy and simplify building security. Except for the laboratories, the building will be carpeted to reduce maintenance, and the color scheme will be bold and far removed from the usual institutional beiges and pale greens.

Landscaping is also partially completed. The lawn around the building and parking lots has been seeded and the grass is already well established. Parking lots have been located on both sides of the building. Pulliam said this arrangement will allow more people to park close to building entrances, rather than having to walk the distance from the far end of a single lot to the building.

The architect who designed the one-building campus is I.W. Gilliam of Peacock, Garn and Partners. J.W. Snyder Co. is handling the construction. Pulliam said that work is going well and according to schedule, and both staff and students are looking forward to using the new campus. South campus offices are now situated in a mobile home located inside Eastern High School.

Plant blast figure tells of past fire

NEW HAVEN (AP) — An admitted conspirator in the fire destruction of a $10 million Shelton factory told a special federal court hearing Thursday about his involvement in a 1971 Pitts-burgh fire.

John W. Shaw, 28, of Pittsburgh told a U.S. District Court hearing that he and others strung detonators and plastic garbage bags filled with gasoline together to burn a former meat storage house.

Shaw, the government's star witness in the trial of 10 men charged in the March 1 burning of Sponge Rubber Products Co., said he was paid $900 for the Pittsburgh job.

The hearing took place after Shaw testified Thursday that he told a federal agent about his involvement in the April 10, 1971, Pittsburgh fire.

Following that testimony attorneys conferred with Judge Jon O. Newman. Newman then dismissed the jury until Tuesday and conducted the hearing.

The hearing took place to determine if it would be beneficial to Shaw to have any sentence resulting from the Pitts-burgh fire combined with sentences arising from the state and federal charges in the Sponge Rubber fire.

Shaw agreed to turn prosecution witness in exchange for having whatever sentences resulting from state and federal charges in the Shelton and Pittsburgh fires run concurrently.

Jesus Scourged, Crowned with Thorns

The soldiers platted a crown of thorns, and put it on his head, and put on him a purple robe, And said, Hail, King of the Jews! and they smote him. — St. John 19: 2-3

Even though Pilate was convinced of Jesus' innocence, once he had yielded to the maddened populace and released Barabbas to them, he ordered Jesus to be scourged. And the soldiers took over. First they crowned him with thorns, ripped off his garments and robed him in purple. Then they placed a reed in his hands and bowed before him, mockingly. "Hail, King of the Jews!" they taunted as they spit upon him and scourged him again. Finally, they removed the purple robe, dressed him once more in his own timent and led him away to be crucified—bearing the heavy burden of his own cross upon his frail shoulders.

Religious downswing approaching?

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — In times to come, futurologists say, believers in God may be considered outsiders, a nonconforming minority, facing a society of predominantly secularist attitudes and conduct.

The prospect is seen by various scholars in assessing developing trends in U.S. life.

Historian James Hitchcock of St. Louis University says American society is entering an "entirely new period" of a religiously neutral state and an unbelieving popular majority.

So far, studies indicate most Americans believe in God and belong to religious bodies.

But a religious "downswing is coming," Hitchcock told a recent meeting in Cincinnati on the future, adding that the "social and conformist" kind of Christian probably will disappear.

It is becoming respectable "not to go to church" for the first time in two centuries of American life, he says.

"Christians must accept being a defined minority for the time being," he adds.

Similar predictions have come from other scholars, including research specialist Tad Ward of Michigan State University, who foresees increasing friction between the church and secular society.

"There are going to be more and more points of crunch ahead for Christians," he says in a paper presented at a continental congress on the family held in St. Louis last weekend.

"In a rather short time we can expect to see Christians put in decision dilemmas in which their scriptural beliefs run strongly counter to the general will of the people."

Involved in this conflict, he adds, will

Youth worker joins staff

A graduate student of Kentucky Christian College, Vic Smith has been called as associate minister at the South Side Church of Christ.

He has been active in youth groups, having served for three years on the staff of Blue Grass Christian Assembly in Lexington, Ky., and having ministered to the Millers Creek Church in Estill County, Ky. Mrs. Smith will be working with young people here each weekend and will reside in the church annex, 909 S. Fayette St.

A get-acquainted potluck dinner and food shower is being planned for the Smith in the Fellowship Hall following Sunday's morning worship service.

The son of Calvin H. Smith, minister of the Northside Christian Church in Georgetown, Ky., Mr. Smith is married to the former Bea Cool, who is also a graduate of Kentucky Christian.

Church hosts singing group

GOOD HOPE — The Calvarymen Quartet from West Virginia will be singing at the Good Hope United Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 1. They will also sing at 9 a.m. worship service Sunday, Nov. 2. There will be no admission charge, and a free will offering will be taken.

be issues such as abortion, euthanasia, eugenic and genetic manipulation — activities that can strike at Jewish-Christian concepts of the sacred value of human life.

State domination of education also has blanked out the subject of faith, teaching only secular facts and ideas. The Catholic League for Religious and Civil Rights, of Milwaukee, says much of the declining influence of religion is the result of court restrictions placed on education.

Ladies slate life crusade

MRS. GLADYS SMITH

Mrs. Gladys Smith of Salisbury, N.C. will be the featured speaker for the Ladies Deeper Life Crusade at First Christian Church Oct. 27 and 28.

A native of Illinois, Mrs. Smith received her training in Indiana and Illinois. She has taught in high school and college and is accepted as a dramatist, author and lecturer by the National League of American Penwomen. She was honored by the city of Newman, Ga., as woman of the year in 1964.

A youth and choir director of Central Christian Church in Salisbury, Mrs. Smith is married to a minister.

The schedule of special activities is as follows:

Monday, 7:30 p.m., lecture on the "Vessels of God" Tuesday, 10 a.m., lecture on the "Vessels of Honor;" 1:15 p.m., a dramatic reading; 4:20 p.m., a "Concert in Humor;" and 7:30 p.m., a lecture on the "Six Vessels Filled with Blessings."

Also scheduled on Tuesday are a luncheon at 12 noon, a panel presentation from 2:15 to 3:45 p.m., and a catered banquet at 6 p.m.

Senior group set to perform

The congregation of McNair Presbyterian Church, Lewis and Rawlings streets, will host an evening of Christian fun and fellowship at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the church sanctuary. The Senior-Citizens Kitchen Band from Hillsboro will present a program of religious and patriotic music. The group has 27 members and is directed by Rosalie Morgan. It has made appearances throughout Highland County.

During the intermission, a film entitled "America, a Picture in my Mind" will be shown.

Refreshments will follow the program in the church social room.

"In recent years secular humanism has moved from seeking merely tolerance for itself in a basically religious society to seeking to make its philosophy the only acceptable one in American life," the league says.

Hitchcock says the official separation of state from religion has been bolstered by popular indifference to religion. For believers to continue having any impact, he says, they must make their identities "clear and sharp" and the church collectively must "make itself quite clearly Christian."

While it cannot withdraw from social concerns, he says, the church must recognize that its most distinctive, lasting power is in its spiritual promise and in nurturing that hope and conviction among people.

2 churches hold bargain sellathon

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two old Catholic churches here, which are being torn down because of low attendance, attracted a large crowd of bargain hunters Wednesday.

The occasion was a sale of artifacts and furnishings from St. Agnes and St. Thomas Aquinas churches.

"The statues sold like hot cakes," one of the buyers said. "All the women were taking them for $150 and $200."

Paul Minnillo, the owner of an Italian restaurant here, bought several windows, two bronze doors, four pews and a confessional. He said he will use the confessional as a telephone booth in his restaurant and the pews as seats for a cocktail lounge.

One of the biggest buyers was Bob Henderson of Cleveland who bought articles worth $1,625. He said he would have bought a $15,000 altar if he had the money. "It would make a great fireplace."

Mrs. Ford loves earth, gardens

One of these days passersby may be startled when they spot the First Lady on her knees digging with her bare hands in the White House garden.

As a matter of fact, her love for the good earth, flowers fresh fruit and vegetables is so great, she goes out of her way to use all three as table center pieces for her formal White House dinners, she reveals in an exclusive interview in November's HOUSE BEAUTIFUL.

She recalled the recent dinner-dance they gave honoring Walter Scheel, President of the Federal Republic of Germany, and Mrs. Scheel in the State Dining Room and Blue Room. The table settings were a garden fresh mixture of fresh fruit, vegetables and nearly-wild flowers and even the delphinium-filled vases decorating the side boards and fireplace were wrapped in green asparagus stalks.

Mrs. Ford said President Scheel was "dazzled" by the natural garden setting and at times "he seemed totally and happily distracted by the natural beauty" of the center pieces set off by the trellis patterned green tablecloths and flower-circled china.

Rituals held for members

The Ritual of Jewels was held for Mrs. Robert Snodgrass and a Pledge Ritual for Mrs. Bill Tippet when the Zeta Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met in Grace United Methodist Church Tuesday evening.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served to Mrs. Roger Pemberton, Mrs. Ruby Snyder, Mrs. Carol Lowe, Mrs. Rick Kelley, Mrs. Fred Conley, Mrs. Bill Wood, Mrs. Don Jones, Mrs. Snodgrass, Mrs. Steve Lewis, Mrs. Tippet, Mrs. Charles Bowersox and Mrs. David McKee.

Probe use of poison in building

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Board of Health has ordered an investigation into use of a deadly poison in a West Side apartment building Thursday that forced evacuation of 150 residents and led to at least 11 persons being treated at local hospitals.
Officials said about five pounds of calcium cyanide were spread on the building's basement floor in an apparent effort to exterminate rats.
Firemen were called Thursday evening when several residents reported they were sick and vomiting.
Fire Marshal Ed Andrews said the building was ordered evacuated after firemen discovered the chemical in the basement. Three firemen were overcome by fumes and had to be taken to local hospitals, along with at least eight civilians.
The three firemen were released after treatment, although some of the civilians remained hospitalized early today, Andrews said.

Antioch opens fund drive

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — An inaugural dinner in Dayton Saturday will launch Antioch College's national drive for $3.3 million.
The school hopes to raise the money in contributions and grants for its stabilization fund, created last June when it became clear the college would need the money to avoid a $1 million deficit for the current year and to cover its back debts.
Since then, approximately $750,000 has been raised, according to Alyce O'Brien, associate director of college development. Each of the 27 members of the board of trustees has made a commitment to raise $50,000 by Jan. 1.

The purpose of the dinner is to call attention to the drive.
John C. Sawhill, president of New York University and former energy chief in the Nixon administration, will speak on the plight of the private college. Approximately 200 persons are expected for the $15-a-plate dinner.
Fund raising campaigns will be held in 15 locations around the country.

Man has his fill of bicentennial

PHILADELPHIA (AP) John Williams has already had his fill of the bicentennial, and it's not even 1976 yet. Williams' frayed nerves are the product of living history. He's a resident of Elfreth's Alley, the oldest continuously occupied residential street in the nation and a Bicentennial tourist's "must" stop.

"Tourists will do anything they can get away with," says Williams. "Some will do things they can't get away with."

The cobblestone alley and its 31 small brick homes — many dating back to the early 1700s and nearly all restored — is down the street from the Betsy Ross house and five blocks from Independence Hall.

"We accept the fact that people will be interested in these 18th century houses and we get used to crowds walking up and down, but sometimes it gets ridiculous," said Williams, who has lived on the Alley four years.

Among other things, visitors have peered through Williams' windows, pounded on his front door and demanded entrance. Some simply have walked through doors temporarily left open.

The Alley's residents want local Bicentennial planners to institute some kind of crowd control. One home on the Alley has been restored and opened as a museum, but the others are private residences.

Local planners have predicted that as many as 10 million tourists will visit the city next year.

John Egan, another Alley resident, also has had problems with the crush of tourists. He says the type of visitor has changed.

"In the past, they generally were more knowledgeable and less aggressive," explained Egan. "You could even chat with them without feeling used."

Land tax backers spend big

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Backers of a constitutional amendment authorizing a tax break for recreational lands—mostly country clubs—have spent more than twice as much as those opposing Gov. James A. Rhodes' economic proposals on the Nov. 4 ballot.

The governor's well-heeled "Ohioans for Jobs and Progress" listed its expenditures of $1.1 million a week ahead of Thursday's deadline for pre-election reports.

Two committees against Rhodes' bond issue-tax hike programs have spent a combined total of $6,350—most of it coming from the United Auto Workers and the Ohio Democratic Party. The League of Women Voters, against all of Rhodes' four proposals except housing on which it is neutral, reported receiving $240 and spending $134.

Reports were due in Secretary of State Ted W. Brown's office no later than 4 p.m. Thursday 12 days prior to the election—under Ohio's new campaign financing law.

The Outdoor Recreational Greenbelt Open Spaces Committee, of which Henry J. Brinker of Columbus is treasurer, said it received $20,714 in contributions and spent $14,469, all of it for newspaper advertisements.

It is pushing for approval of Issue 1, which would authorize the legislature to provide a tax break for owners of recreational lands similar to one voters approved for farmers two years ago.

There were roughly 50 contributors to the open spaces committee, almost all of the country and golf clubs along with a few other outdoor groups.

Among them were Scioto Country Club of Columbus, $1,000; the Cleveland District Golf Association, $4,000; Tri-County Country Club, Cuyahoga Falls, $1,601; Coldstream Country Club, Cincinnati, $500; Heatherdowns Country Club, Toledo, $500, and the Ohio State Club Association, Cleveland, $1,000.

Citizens Against the Issues, of which Richard Sloan of Columbus is treasurer, reported contributions of $6,386 and expenditures of $4,927, leaving a balance of $1,459. The contributions included $4,927.37 from the Ohio Democratic Party.

Citizens Against Unfair Taxation, of which George Tyack, Columbus, is treasurer, said it received $3,254.14 and spent $1,078, leaving $2,176 on hand. Its contributions included $3,000 from the United Auto Workers Community Action Program (CAP) Council.

The CAP Council like the League of Women Voters, is opposing only Issues 2, 3, and 5.

Warren Smith, treasurer of the AFL-CIO committee, listed total political contributions for the year of $6,591.14 and expenditures of the same amount. It included only $211 spent against the ballot issues, in addition to the $240 contribution to the league. Most of the remainder went for tickets to fund-raisers for Democratic state legislators.

Title I program outlined to advisory council

The first meeting of the Parent Advisory Council was held Tuesday at Eastside Elementary School.

President Mrs. Ed Warning welcomed all those in attendance and urged them to involve more of the parents who have children in the Title I program.

Mrs. Fred Domenico, program supervisor, introduced all of the personnel in the Washington C.H. school system who are directly involved in Title I. Each then explained briefly his or her specialty in assisting children with reading problems.

Children are tested with a telebinocular machine during the initial screening. Those who need additional testing may be checked at Ohio State University's optometry clinic if the parents agree.

All first graders are screened as are students in other grades if the classroom teacher feels they have a hearing or speech problem.

In addition to the eye examination, a child who has displayed difficulty will be asked to participate in a battery of tests to help pinpoint his difficulty.

Each child enrolled in the Title I program is given diagnostic tests. They are grouped and directed to learning centers according to their individual needs.

One of the machines which assist the Title I teachers is the language master. It allows the child to see, say and hear words simultaneously.

Those teachers involved in the Title I program are Mrs. Domenico, Mrs.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — On April 9, 1950, Bob Hope made his NBC-TV debut in a special he began decked out in formal evening wear. "A lotta performers die on television," he quipped, "and I wanna be prepared."
Now 72, Hope seems to have survived the new medium. In fact, tonight he's hosting a two-hour, 25th-year-on-television NBC special which features himself and 97 other stars from his past shows.
The goods, culled from 800 sketches or performances, have been spliced together in no particular sequence in a collection of grainy kinescopes and black and white or living color videotapes.
Sorry to say, the result is not as lively as one might expect. And notably absent from the show are the tapes and humor of the Christmas visits of Hope & Co. to U.S. troops fighting in Vietnam.
The older wares hold up, particularly a brief Yukon saloon skit in which Hope's long-time pal, Jerry Colonna, exhibits the spirit of merriment and devilry that was television way back when.
But the newer clips exhibit a sad trend that has become all too common in TV variety shows in recent years, mainly in Hope's shows.
This is the damnable practice of staring at cue cards. Performers rarely look at each other now. They look at the cue cards, recite their lines, chuckle nervously, collect their fees and withdraw.
It takes the spark out of a sketch, reduces the odds for a funny ad lib.

Sponsors should limit the practice or reduce the fees paid artists who show up to read and pass that off as a performance.
So much for grumbling. The show's highlights, for my dough, come when:
—Sid Caesar, introduced as a diplomat, babbles a farewell in bogus French at Hope, who is leaving for England. Imogene Coca translates, "Mr. Caesar says have a pleasant trip to Mexico, Mr. O'Dwyer."
—Hope and Jimmy Cagney turn in some incredible hoofing, particularly Cagney, in a clip from a Hope film called "Seven Little Foys."

Little threat to leaders in SCOL grid standings

The three top South Central Ohio League powers should retain their positions in the standings after tonight's confrontations.

Circleville can move into a tie with Court House as the Tigers draw the easiest assignment of the night with Unioto. Miami Trace should have a tougher time with Wilmington and the Blue Lions can neither drop nor gain in the SCOL race against non-league opponent Portsmouth.

Greenfield will visit Hillsboro and Madison Plains will play its second non-league game of the year against Cedarville.

MADISON PLAINS AT CEDARVILLE
The Golden Eagles finally get a break from South Central Ohio League action for the first time in five games, but coach Bob Crable won't find things much easier with Cedarville.

The Indians are a tough Class 'A' team and the result of tonight's contest shouldn't help the Madison Plains' ego. Unless Jackie Maggard gets hot the Golden Eagles will drop to 1-7 for the season.

UNIOTO AT CIRCLEVILLE
After sweating out a narrow, last-second upset win over Greenfield McClain, the Unioto Tanks will have little time to catch their breath against a mad bunch of Tigers.

Circleville lost its first game of the year last week and fell from the top of the Class 'AA' rankings. Running star Biff Bumgarner was also kept from the end zone for the first time this season and that won't happen again unless the 'Juice' doesn't play.

Latest reports say he's fired up and ready to go, so pity the Tanks.

The only big surprise that could come from this game would be a touchdown by Unioto against the tough Tiger defense.

GREENFIELD AT HILLSBORO
If it weren't for Greenfield's upset loss to Unioto last week this game could be considered a toss-up.

Now, Greenfield will be out for revenge after the controversial loss that dropped them completely out of the SCOL race and Hillsboro is unlucky enough to be the victim.

Kevin Kensinger, Tony Anderson and

Don Watts should put on an aerial circus against the porous Indian secondary and the Tiger defense will only have to contend with the speed of Hillsboro's Ken Captain in their efforts for a shutout.

WILMINGTON AT MIAMI TRACE
The Hurricane has lost a lot of wind in recent weeks being shutout by Circleville and Washington C.H. the last two outings.

Things won't be any easier this week against the league leading Panthers. In fact, Miami Trace should blow Wilmington right out of the field even if past history shows a long line of tough Panther-Hurricane battles.

The potent Panther offense could have some trouble with the stubborn Hurricane defense, but when the Trace defense gets through with Wilmington's defense, quarterback Art Schlichter won't have far to guide the team to the end zone.

Wilmington can only look ahead to the last two weeks of the season, when the league's big three are behind them and only Madison Plains and Unioto stand in their way for a winning season.

PORTSMOUTH AT WASH. C.H.
Get the tape and crutches ready; when 230-pounders are blocking 160-pounders something's got to give.

The huge Portsmouth linemen are quick as well as strong and the Blue Lions will have to utilize technique and a whole lot of heart to stop the Trojans.

The SCOL's smallest line has been outwheeled before, but never so badly as tonight.

Portsmouth could be considered a two-touchdown favorite. But, if Washington C.H. can force the mistakes, it could be a Band Night-Homecoming victory celebration for the Blue Lions.

The always tough Trojans reportedly have their best team since 1968, when Chad Williams and Mike White stole the headlines.

Team	League Overall Points
	W	L	T	Opp
Miami Trace	4	0	7	0	225 44
Washington C.H.	4	1	6	1	144 20
Circleville	3	1	6	1	110 40
Wilmington	2	2	4	3	87 72
Greenfield	2	3	3	4	109 66
Hillsboro	1	3	3	4	79 129
Unioto	1	3	3	4	85 129
Madison Plains	1	5	1	6	32 204

BACK IN UNIFORM — Mark Fisher, Washington C.H.'s main offense weapon in the first four games of the season, will be suited up for tonight's game with Portsmouth. The senior tailback, who had led the SCOL in scoring, missed the last three games due to a cracked rib.

Computer football ratings released

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gahanna Lincoln in Class AAA and Dublin in Class AA, two central Ohio powers, are the only new leaders this week in the Ohio High School Athletic Association's computer football ratings.

The OHSAA uses the ratings to determine the semifinals for its postseason playoffs in all three classes. Gahanna beat Westerville South while previous Region 2 pacesetter Upper Arlington played to a 3-3 tie with Zanesville last week. The developments raised Lincoln's point total to 76.50 to 76.00 for Upper Arlington.

Gahanna was sixth a week ago.

Dublin, third last week in Region 6 behind Oregon Stritch, moved to the top this time. Stritch, a 50-0 victim of Toledo Clay, tumbled to second. Dublin defeated Columbus Franklin Heights 9-6 to take over the top spot.

Holding onto their Class AAA leads were Lakewood St. Edward, Cincinnati Moeller and East Liverpool.

Los Angeles Lakers edge Knicks

By BOB GREENE

AP Sports Writer

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar made his first National Basketball Association regular season appearance with the Los Angeles Lakers, and it was the New York Knicks who had to suffer the consequences.

Traded to Los Angeles from Milwaukee during the off-season, Abdul-Jabbar has found both his new city and new teammates to his liking. And Los Angeles Coach Bill Sharman had no complaints after the 7-foot-4 center scored a three-point play to snap a 97-97 deadlock and lead the Lakers to a 104-101 victory over New York.

In other season-opening NBA games Thursday night, Atlanta stopped New Orleans 109-91, Golden State clipped Cleveland 89-83 and Washington defeated Kansas City 107-95.

Lakers 104, Knicks 101

Burdened with five fouls, Kareem sat out most of the third period, but came back in in the final quarter when the Knicks rallied, finally knotted the score at 97-97. But the Lakers got the ball in deep to Abdul-Jabbar, who was fouled while scoring. He sank the free throw and New York never caught up again.

Cazzie Russell led the Lakers with 29 points while Kareem added 27 points and 20 rebounds. High for the Knicks were Walt Frazier and Earl Monroe with 21 and 20 points, respectively.

Frazier now has 12,189 career points, breaking Willis Reed's New York record of 12,183.

Hawks 109, Jazz 91

John Drew's 21 points, aided by six of his Atlanta teammates scoring in double figures, paced the Hawks' rout of New Orleans. The Hawks jumped to a 19-2 lead and never trailed the Jazz, who were playing without injured Pete Maravich.

New Orleans closed the gap to three points in the second period and was still in the game until a 14-2 Atlanta spurt in the fourth period. Ron Behagen, playing his first game for New Orleans, led the Jazz had 18. Lou Hudson and Dwight Jones had 17 points each for Atlanta.

Golden State 89, Cavaliers 83

The defending champion Golden State Warriors, who trailed by as much as 18 points in the first half, rallied behind Rick Barry's 22 points to pull out a season-opening victory. Golden State didn't take its first lead since 2-0 until 5:43 remained in the game. That's when Barry, who scored 12 of his points in the final period, hit on a long jumper. After that, Cleveland could come only as close as one point only once. Jim

TALK ABOUT HIDDEN SYMBOLISM — In this photo, not only do we have a strong play to elect Sparky as president, but we also see his last name further beyond and a hint as to what helped the Reds win the World Series — strong "Leggs" and of course super batting. Their hometown of Cincinnati is in Ohio and we have the shape of our state in the photo too. You may question Bob Lewis Real Estate Insurance, Trucks Park in Rear, and Way-Lo Gas 54.9 and we admit we haven't been able to tie those in either, but we're not saying it's impossible.

Cincy celebrates big victory

BY ANDY LIPPMAN
Associated Press Writer
CINCINNATI (AP)—Johnny Bench's mother and father were having themselves a fine time when they noticed a youngster trying to put a sign on the side of elevated walkway above Fountain Square.

The sign read: "No more tears after 35 years."

Ted Bench and his wife helped tape the sign up and then he made a sign to the crowd to say "We're No. 1."

Whether it was the father of the Cincinnati Reds all-star catcher, or an 80-year-old woman who had arrived at the city square three hours early to get a place to stand, the feeling was much the same among the 25,000 who gathered Thursday to celebrate the team's first World Series triumph since 1940.

The 'big one' had finally come to the city, which has drawn over two million fans for the last three years. The Reds lost in the 1961 and 1970 World Series and again in 1972. In 1973, the heavily favored Reds stumbled in the National League Playoffs against the New York Mets.

This season, the pattern seemed uncomfortably similar. After sweeping through the regular season and National League playoffs, the Reds had to extend themselves to seven games before defeating the Boston Red Sox.

The final out caused an impromptu celebration which brought about 15,000 people into the streets. About 200 persons were arrested, most of them on disorderly conduct charges after police tried to clear the area in the early morning.

"No matter what happens after this,

I don't know if anything can top winning the Series," exclaimed Johnny Bench, one of the first players introduced to the crowd which began to gather for the midday rally. "Even if we win it again, they say the first time is always the sweetest."

For Pete Rose, most valuable player in the series and a man who has spent his life here, stood silently for a moment before acknowledging the crowd which had called repeatedly for his appearance.

"It's been a long time coming for me," he finally said. "It really feels great to be here and bring the championship back where it belongs."

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn presented the World Series trophy to club president Bob Howsam, but he was the only official to be spared the boos of a crowd which repeatedly called for a cigar chomping Tony Perez, Bench, Rose and Manager Sparky Anderson.

Gov. James Rhodes, who had earlier claimed 20 pounds of codfish as the result of a bet with the governor of Massachusetts, received a mixed greeting when he presented a proclamation to Howsam, while local officials were roundly booed.

At a local hospital, callers to the public relations department were greeted with a tape which said: "This is Good Samaritan Hospital, birthplace of the sons and daughters of Tony Perez, Will McEnaney, Pedro Borbon, Pete Rose and other members of the World Champion Cincinnati Reds."

President Ford congratulates Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — President Gerald R. Ford late Thursday night called Cincinnati Reds Manager Sparky Anderson at the team party to congratulate the winners of the 1975 World Series.

Mr. Ford told Anderson and the Reds team that it "was a very entertaining seven-game series."

Bill Lee blasts Reds as 3rd-rate

BOSTON (AP) — Bill Lee, the Boston Red Sox' outspoken left-handed pitcher, held court in the clubhouse Wednesday night while most teammates talked softly after losing the World Series to the Cincinnati Reds.

Lee alternated in praising the Reds and criticizing them and the National League as hordes of writers and cameramen kept approaching him to find out what was going on.

"Dynasty? Dynasty, my ass!" Lee said when asked whether he thought Cincinnati would rule major league baseball in the future.

"If they played on grass (instead of the artificial turf at Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium) they'd learn how to play ball," he said. "If they played in the American League, they would come in third."

"They're the best team in the world, second only to the Taiwan Little League. They play perfect baseball."

Asked if the Reds and the National League are superior, Lee replied:

"That's just propaganda about them and their league. They've got a good team and so do we. The two leagues are equal."

He also said:

"It was a good Series, a battling Series...We made the mistakes, they won. That's all you have to write...What the hell, just luck, fate. Maybe we should have come back and got 'em."

Lee, a 17-game winner in each of the last three years with Boston, was the Red Sox' starter in the seventh and deciding game. He served up a two-run homer to Tony Perez in the sixth inning and was replaced after walking the first batter in the seventh. The Reds went on to tie it 3-3 in that inning on Pete Rose's single, then win 4-3 on Joe Morgan's bloop single to center with two out in the ninth.

"I did the best I could," he said. "I thought I had them and felt they knew my stuff was still good, but I developed a blister on my left thumb."

"If I didn't get the blister, I'd still be in there and we would have won the ball game. I had 'em. They weren't going to score again. They know it."

Anderson salutes Pete Rose

CINCINNATI (AP)—While Cincinnati sighed over its first baseball world championship since 1940, Reds Manager Sparky Anderson saluted Pete Rose, the Most Valuable Player of the 1975 World Series.

"He's a pro, simple as that. That's why it's easier to get closer to him. Baseball is the only thing in his life," said Anderson as this capital of baseball swooned over its third world title in the club's 107-year history.

Rose, the hometown hero with an unquenchable enthusiasm, was a driving force behind the Reds' series victory, leading all hitters with a .370 batting average.

"With any luck, he could have set a World Series record for hits," said Anderson, tired from the strain of the drama-packed event.

"I've never seen anyone hit the ball on the nose for seven days like he did," said Anderson, preparing to return to his home in Thousand Oaks, Calif.

Rose wound up with 10 hits in 27 at bats, three shy of tying the all time series mark of 13 set by Bobby Richardson of the New York Yankees in 1964 and Lou Brock of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1968.

MIGHT AS WELL SLEEP ON THE JOB WALNUT CREEK, Calif. (AP) - It really happened one night recently in Walnut Creek. The police reported that for the first time in months the mid-night to 8 a.m. shift had no cases.

No one called in for help from the police. There were no reported family fights, drunk drivers, mental cases or any other routine occurrences that are the meat-and-potatoes of suburban police work.

Police can recall about eight instances of caseless shifts during the past several years.

Bidding Quiz

You are South and the bidding has gone:

West North East South
1 ♠ 1 NT Pass ?

What would you bid now with each of the following four hands?

1. ♠ 74 ♥ QJ6 ♦ KQ9852 ♣ J6
2. ♠ 6 ♥ KJ9543 ♦ Q74 ♣ K65
3. ♠ J83 ♥ J5 ♦ QJ4 ♣ KJ872
4. ♠ 94 ♥ Q763 ♦ J96532 ♣ 8

1. Three notrump. Partner's notrump overall indicates the same values as an opening notrump bid. It shows 16 to 18 points, notrump distribution and strength in probably all suits (and, in the present case, either one or two spade stoppers).

Had North opened as dealer with one notrump, you presumably would have raised to three. You should take the same action here, even though it was West who opened the bidding.

2. Four hearts. Again you respond as though North had opened with one notrump. This is a game-going hand, once partner bids a notrump, and you might just as well bid game now as later. Alternatively, you could respond three hearts, planning to continue to four hearts if North rebid three notrump, but there is nothing to be gained by taking the slower course.

3. Two notrump. You can't tell whether this is a game-going hand, and the best way of handling the situation is to leave the decision to partner. North is looking at his cards and knows whether he had a minimum notrump bid of 16 points or a maximum notrump bid of 18 points. If he has 16 points he'll probably pass, and if he has 18 he'll surely go on to three notrump. If he has 17 points, he will usually bid again, but he can exercise his best judgment and pass, if he wishes.

4. Two diamonds. There is no question that this is technically the right response - because it instructs partner to pass at the same time as it tells him that in your opinion there's a better chance of making two diamonds than one notrump.

However, the hard fact is that in many circles a signoff response of two diamonds falls on absolutely deaf ears and the player who bid a notrump keeps right on bidding because he has a good hand and doesn't understand that his partner has a poor one. If that is the situation, you should perhaps pass one notrump and let partner suffer there, but the real fault would then lie not in the system you play but in your having chosen the wrong partner to play with.

Recognizing a Drinking Problem

I have to admit that I am a problem drinker. My liver is enlarged and when I am in a drinking phase I eat very poorly. I have been told that if I maintain a nutritious diet I can still drink. How do you feel about this?

Mr. T. F. J., Tex.

Dear Mr. J.: I read and reread your letter and was confused that an obviously intelligent person should delude himself with such illogical reasoning.

You know you are a problem drinker. You know that your liver is enlarged. You know that you are undernourished. Yet you bypass confronting your problem head-on and try to find a reason to continue with your excessive drinking. It just doesn't make any sense.

It once was thought that the alcoholic was undernourished and that this was responsible for liver damage. Today, newer studies definitely indicate that alcohol can damage the liver, even in the presence of so-called "good nutrition."

Certainly, the combination of alcohol and inadequate nourishment can be even more harmful to the liver and other organs of the body.

I think you have taken a giant step forward by recognizing the fact that you are an alcoholic. Continue this momentum. Follow the direction of your doctor. With the help of Alcoholics Anonymous and perhaps some psychological support, you can be free of this problem.

I have dryness of the mouth. Sometimes the burning sensation is distressing. I get no relief from swallowing large amounts of fluid. Can anything be done about this?

Mrs. S. G., Maine

Dear Mrs. G.: Many people complain of this symptom. Occasionally, tobacco may be the offender.

For those people who do not smoke, some drugs have been tried with moderate success. One, pilocarpine, in a solution of one part to 4000 of water, is used by some doctors. About 10 drops of the solution are taken three times a day.

Some patients have been given a fair amount of relief. Of course, this drug should be used only when specifically prescribed by a physician.

Some women who complain of marked dryness and burning of the mouth have been relieved by the use of female hormones. This, too, is prescribed only after an individual evaluation of the problem by the doctor.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "Alcoholism: A Family Disease." It probes this grave problem and offers hopeful advice. For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Alcoholism booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. The second indecent exposure incident this week and a grand theft through shoplifting are presently under investigation by Washington C.H. police. Officers also reported offenses dealing with vandalism and larceny, plus a dog bite.

An unidentified man exposed himself to a Washington C.H. woman at 4:05 p.m. Thursday on Pearl Street between Campbell Street and Western Avenue. City police stated an arrest is expected.

A coat is believed to have been taken from Soldan's women's apparel store, 212 E. Court St., by a shoplifter sometime around 7:30 p.m. Monday. Investigation into the possibility of additional missing merchandise is underway, police reported.

A citizen's band radio valued at $473 and a voltage tester belonging to Fred Roberts were stolen between Wednesday and Thursday from his truck parked beside his 614 Sycamore St. residence. Police also reported a car owned by Roberts was scratched with a sharp instrument, a central air conditioner coil in his backyard damaged and two windows measuring 24 by 30 inches broken. Investigation is continuing.

An auto belonging to Norman Underwood, 923 Clinton Ave., was scratched sometime Wednesday night. Police stated the vandalism occurred while the car was parked at the rear of the Underwood residence in the driveway.

Laura J. Lewis, 1250 Rawlings St., was bitten on the finger by a dog at 7:15 p.m. Thursday at 1246 Rawlings St. She was treated and released at Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Traffic Court

A Washington C.H. man was fined $200 plus court costs, sentenced to serve 30 days in jail and had his license suspended 30 days by Washington C.H. Municipal Court Judge Reed M. Winegardner on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Judge Winegardner also found Fred L. Howe, 58, of 1026 Millwood Ave., guilty on a charge of reckless operation during Thursday afternoon's court proceedings and fined him $100 and court costs on that charge. Howe had been arrested by city police and cited on the two traffic infractions when he became involved in an accident with a parked auto in the 700 block of Broadway Tuesday.

Judge Winegardner fined three other persons on traffic charges and accepted four bond forfeitures.

Jean A. Harris, 30, Springfield, was fined $200 and court costs, given three days in jail and had her driver's license suspended for 30 days on a charge of driving while intoxicated and fined $100 and court costs on a charge of driving

Rockefeller visits in Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller spent six hours in Indianapolis Thursday on a "get acquainted" mission.

From Gov. Otis Bowen he received a gavel made of wood salvaged from the Indianapolis home of Benjamin Harrison, 23rd president of the United States. The vice president addressed the Indiana State Teachers Association convention and received a medallion inscribed "Let's Save the Children."

But there's a question just how much Indiana support the former New York governor gained. He long has been considered too liberal by Hoosier Republicans. There are still many who remember his failure to support Barry Goldwater for president in 1964.

Free enterprise said in danger

FRENCH LICK, Ind. (AP) — The president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce says, "There is more fear about the survival of our free enterprise system today than at any time in recent memory."

Richard L. Leshner of Washington addressed Indiana State Chamber of Commerce directors Thursday. He listed federal agencies influencing private business and said agents of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration can raid a business anytime without a search warrant. He charged the Consumer Product Safety Commission has "accidentally" ruined companies with news releases.

And the Environmental Protection Agency "ruins the hearts of cities with control on traffic and parking."

Rockefeller in Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller arrives in Indianapolis today for a news conference, an appearance at a Republican luncheon and to address the Indiana State Teachers Association.

The former governor of New York, due at Weir Cook Airport at 10:30 a.m. aboard Air Force Two, scheduled a 20-minute news conference at the Indiana Convention-Exposition Center. Tickets for the GOP luncheon in the center's 500 ballroom sold at $15.

Services slated for William Lukens

WAYNESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Funeral services are scheduled Saturday for William A. Lukens, the father of Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middletown.

The elder Lukens, 80, died Wednesday at Kettering Memorial Hospital where he was taken after suffering a stroke earlier in the week.

County corruption probe scheduled

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — State police and a special prosecutor were ready today to begin investigating allegations of corruption in Tippecanoe County.

George J. Hanna, 48, Lafayette attorney and former county prosecutor, was sworn in Wednesday as special prosecutor. Hanna scheduled a meeting at 7 a.m. today with heads of county police agencies.

Meanwhile, State Police Supt. Robert L. DeBard said the request for an investigation by his agency was approved and an investigator would join Hanna within a few days.

The probe was triggered by the firing of John Dibble as chief deputy prosecutor and a call by more than 60 area policemen for an outside investigation.
